

Wells Primary & Nursery School Reception Class Newsletter 7th October 2016

Hello Everyone,

We have had a fantastic week in Reception Class with lots going on including school photos and another trip out to the Estate Agents this time.

The children enjoyed finding out about what an estate agent does and looking at all the pictures of the houses that people could buy. They had lots to talk about when they came back.

After reading the story Iggy Peck the architect the children have been very busy outside designing and building their own houses and structures on the construction site. We have also had lots of box play this week, with some exciting parcels arriving at school for us, one full of snakes we had to measure and order and the other containing our new class puppet WALT who had come all the way from Australia.

Next week we are thinking about animal homes and what animals we may have living in the school grounds and where they live. We are going to be reading the story of the Gruffalo and doing some writing about the different animals in the story and where they live. We also have our Gruffalo story café on Wednesday at 2pm and we welcome mums and dad or grandparents/ carers to come along and join your child. We will be having some refreshments so if you can make a donations of cakes or biscuits we would be very grateful.

We still have a number of children who do not have any spare clothes on their peg or wellington boots in school, it is essential for your child to have these in school please every day.

When you come in with your child in the morning please stay and read them a story or ensure they are settled with a book on the carpet before you leave, the children do not come into the classroom and play first thing.

Thank you to the parents who came along to our phonics session on Tuesday, I hope that you found it informative and now you know how best to support your child with their phonics learning.

Have a great weekend!
