

This week we have been thinking about fireworks, including the sounds they make. We made our own firework display using tennis balls dipped in paint that landed with a splat when we dropped them onto some paper. We also decorated different length tubes to make rockets.

We have had lots of different opportunities for maths exploration this week, from pattern making and sorting activities to number identification and counting.

The children continue to work together really well. They all have great imaginations and love to share their ideas.

However, sometimes it's good to have a few minutes to yourself!
