

This week we continue our topic work with the theme "How far can I throw it?" The first thing we did, was to identify which things were safe to throw and which were not. We also thought about the difference between the things we could throw inside and out. We made a collection for our Interest Table.

We found it was easy to throw pom-poms and rolled up balls of paper inside without breaking anything, but it was more accurate to blow feathers. It was also easier to pat balloons than throw them.

Outside, the children practised their throwing skills. They were very creative with the games they invented too.

Next week we will be looking at battery operated toys. If your child has any they would like to bring into Nursery School we would love to see them.

Please could you also check whether you have any of our books. Our book boxes are looking sadly empty!
