Dear Parents,

On Friday we had another Immersive learning day based on St George's day. The children heard the story of St George and the dragon in assembly, back in the classroom we read them an alternative story where George was really a mouse. The children then discussed and voted as to whether they thought George was a man or a mouse. We wrote about what we thought and why. Made dragon pictures in our sketch books and made dragons using craft materials. The day ended with the trial of St George in assembly where he was found guilty of being a myth ad charlatan! It was a great day with some fantastic learning taking place. Here are a few pictures of what we did.....
