

This week we started to incorporate more of a water theme into our work.

We started with the text "Mrs Wishy Washy". In this story, a group of farmyard animals are enjoying a muddy puddle. Mrs Wishy Washy washes them in a big bath tub, but as soon as her back is turned they all jump into the mud again!

We decided to see what thick, oozy mud felt like and jumped in, just like the animals in the story. We printed our footsteps, checking who had the biggest and then washed them in some clean water.

We checked some of the things we use water for. We washed some muddy farm animals, watered the new plants, practised washing our hands properly and made investigations in the water tray.

Thank you to all who helped with our visit to the library in Wells. The children obviously enjoyed being part of the puppet show, especially feeding porridge to the hungry T-Rex!
